On Thursday, May 29, 2014 a Regular Meeting - Video of the Illinois Gaming Board ("Board") was held on the 5th floor at 160 N. LaSalle at the Michael J. Bilandic Building, Chicago, Illinois. The Open Session on Video Gaming started at approximately 10:33 A.M. Present were Chairman Aaron Jaffe, Members Lee Gould, Maribeth Vander Weele and Michael Holewinski.

APPROVAL OF MINUTES –

Member Gould moved that the Board approve the open session minutes of its Regular Meeting of May 29, 2014. Member Vander Weele seconded the motion. The Board approved the motion unanimously by roll call vote.

CHAIRMAN'S COMMENTS –

As you know in video gaming there are a lot of bad apples. In Illinois people want to make money without proper licensing. Many haven't gone through the vetting process and have approached people even though they are not licensed.

Senate Bill 2797, sponsored by Senator Ira Silverstein and Representative Scott Drury is an essential piece of video gaming legislation. The bill establishes an exclusion list for video gaming. The video gaming exclusion list will operate in an identical manner to the riverboat gambling exclusion list administered without controversy by the IGB since the early 1990s. An exclusion list prohibits a small number of notorious individuals, often connected with organized crime, from engaging in all gaming-related activities. Every casino gaming jurisdiction in the United States has an exclusion list. In Nevada, the exclusion list has been credited with driving organized crime out of the casino industry. Based on the universality of exclusion lists in all gaming jurisdictions, there is absolutely no good reason to be against this legislation.

The exclusion list will also serve the important function of protecting licensed locations against entering into deals with unscrupulous operators. The names of persons on the list will be posted on the Illinois Gaming Board website. By checking this posted list, the locations will be warned not to do business with these individuals.

An exclusion list is crucial in the video gaming context because the huge number of locations and lack of continuous personal surveillance by Board agents makes day-to-day regulatory oversight more difficult, increasing the importance of ensuring that unacceptable individuals are excluded in advance. Posting the names of excluded individuals on the Board's website will also serve the important function of protecting licensees from entering into deals with notorious individuals.

The bill's opponents repeatedly argued that it would result in a loss of employment by waitresses, bar tenders and other lower-level employees who might have a criminal past. The exclusion list is designed to keep out of gaming only a very small number of notorious individuals whose scope of activities is significant enough to threaten the integrity of gaming. Currently, there are approximately 21 individuals on the riverboat gambling exclusion list. A similarly small number of individuals could be expected to be placed on the video gaming exclusion list.

The Board's legal staff has worked diligently with JCAR staff on the language of the Board's proposed permanent rulemaking intended to supplement Senate Bill 2797. Despite the Board's utmost efforts to accommodate JCAR, 4 out of the 6 House JCAR members spoke against Senate Bill 2797 during House floor debate, a 5th JCAR member voted "no" on the bill, and the 6th House JCAR member, who was in the Speaker's chair, voted "present." In fact, comments by JCAR members speaking against the bill constituted the bulk of the House debate. One JCAR member went so far as to state that the IGB was attempting to make an end run around JCAR through this legislation. This is obviously the exact opposite of the truth.

Addressing the audience, Chairman Jaffe also stated that the industry should support this legislation as well as push for legislation to outlaw campaign contributions in the gambling industry.
